What is the Maternal, Newborn and Child Health Promotion (MNCHP) Network?

The MNCHP Network, coordinated by the Best Start Resource Centre, is an online forum that promotes and facilitates the exchange of information related to the field of preconception, prenatal and child health.

The MNCHP Network allows service providers, researchers, policy-makers and advocates from diverse sectors and geographic regions to share and receive up-to-date information and strategies that will enable them to advance the work that they do.

MNCHP NETWORK MEMBERS CAN:

- share current information and strategies related to preconception, prenatal and child health.
- announce upcoming conferences, workshops and events of interest to others in the field.
- engage in online discussions regarding current policies, initiatives, research, and developments in the field.

MNCHP Network membership is free

MNCHP NETWORK BENEFITS:

- a regular electronic bulletin that highlights current trends, new resources and initiatives, upcoming events and more in the preconception, prenatal and child health field.
- participation in an email discussion listserv that allows participants to ask questions and actively discuss and exchange current information on preconception, prenatal and child health issues.

Membership is free and open to all preconception, prenatal and child health service providers

Members are encouraged to be actively involved in the MNCHP Network by submitting information about their own work or the work of others to the MNCHP Bulletin and posting messages on the electronic listserv.

For general information about the MNCHP Network and submission guidelines for the Bulletin, please contact mnchp@healthnexus.ca
